MIDTOWN CONSORTIUM MEETING

Directors Corner

It has been a busy and exciting year at the FJC. I have been so thankful to get to know the great onsite partners and meet with potential partners throughout the year. Despite the devastating toll the pandemic has taken on organizations, businesses, and families, the work of mental health/social service providers, shelters, law enforcement, healthcare and other professionals has been maintained and people have been served. I am proud to live and work in a community that values and addresses community needs. Some of our highlights have been the completion of the Strategic Plan, implementation of VOICES a Survivors Advocacy group, a Virtual Elder conference and staying open and available for survivors.

Chattanooga's Midtown organizations and businesses are creating a consortium to address community need. They are looking at Health, Food Insecurity, Workforce Development, Children, Social Services/Mental Health and Housing with a "No Wrong Door" approach. Councilwoman Carol Berz shared that "the base of the underserved has changed; they show up from all backgrounds. We are in the most diverse district of the city and it's exciting because from that group we will create change." We are looking forward to expanding our footprint and are excited to participate in this group who will create a path toward a collaborative collective impact in addressing the needs of our community.

TOURS OF THE FJC

We are happy to announce that we are still giving tours of our beautiful facility along with information about us and our partners. If you are interested in a tour and/or information, give us a call at 423-643-7600.

Deana's Nugget

Have you seen our videos? I believe most everyone has seen the videos we have posted on our social media, but if you have not seen them, please go to our Facebook page and view them. (If you have not liked our FB page, go ahead and give us a like) We made these videos to increase awareness and give quick information on several different subjects. We did have some fun putting them together and have a few hilarious outtakes that we may share at some point. I would like to take the opportunity to open the floor to ideas that you may have for a video. Is there anything to do with bringing awareness to people that you would like to see in one of our videos? Shoot me an email with any ideas you have at dklane@chattanooga.gov

Thank You Hamilton County Councilman Tim Boyd

A big thank you to Hamilton County Commissioner Tim Boyd for generously donating over nine thousand dollars to the Hamilton County Chattanooga Family Justice Center.

Nashville Metro Family Safety Center

Several FJC staff took a tour of the Nashville Metro Family Safety Center. Connections were made, important information shared, and great food eaten.

COMPASSION FATIGUE

In one of our videos we demonstrated compassion fatigue, which is often described as the negative cost of caring, and gave some ideas to help combat it. High levels of compassion fatigue can be managed with a number of authentic, sustainable strategies. Our own Patti Childers is a certified expert in this field and we are lucky to have her knowledge and understanding at our fingertips. Patti has also given trainings on how to combat compassion fatigue. The Compassion Fatigue Awareness Project also offers original training materials, workbooks, and texts.

SIGNAL FOR HELP

This is the universal signal for help. This sign means the person giving it needs emergency police assistance. In our last video, we demonstrated the signal, a bystander who witnessed the signal and called police. We saw the survivor talking to police and walking into the FJC for help. Our hope is that anyone who needs help will use the signal for help and bystanders who see the signal will call for help.
